MUCH-MARRIED MAN PASSES AS COUSIN OF PRIME MINISTER

London, November 3.—The police of a hundred cities, acting in collaboration with the best detectives of Scotland Yard, are combing England, Wales and Scotland for a man representing himself as a wealthy Canadian and a first cousin of Mr. Hon. Mackenzie King. He has a penchant for marrying girls with money and savings and his latest "wife" has been deserted after the adventure. He got away with $2,000, claiming to be Mr. James King.

The real name of this plausible gentleman is said to be Richard Sigmund, and it is said that he is a native of Czechoslovakia, who is well known to both the Austrian and the German police. Sigmund first jumped into the limelight by marrying Mrs. Sheddin, a wealthy American widow, after a whirlwind courtship of less than two weeks. On this occasion Sigmund disappeared from the hotel in which the honeymoon pair were staying after he had got possession of $2,000 worth of jewels, and it is known now that at the very time of his so-called marriage he was courting a pretty English girl whom he "married" a day or two after he had deserted his widow bride.

After this "wedding" he again suddenly disappeared, excusing himself on this occasion by the pressure of sudden domestic business. The following day he introduced himself to a lady at the Ritz, excusing himself on the grounds that his newest flame closely resembled his fiancée, who had been killed by a fall from her horse while out hunting. His courtship here was again swift and successful, for he decamped after many stories about his cousin, Premier King, with all the negotiable property of his latest attachment. He was last seen at Southampton, and it is suspected that he might have boarded a vessel that sailed a few days ago for a Canadian port.

GIVE THE BEST

Those folks that declare life isn't worth living. Know naught of the pleasure of loving and giving. They find no joy in work, find in pleasure no zest—if they do give at all, they don't give of their best.

They go daily to work, but are not a bit zealous; Of those who work well, they are envious and jealous; They are blasé at pleasure, and so, 'tis confessed, They reap as they sow, for they never give their best.

The best that is in us is always worth giving. If life, as we know it, is made worth the living, Both labor and pleasure will find us more blest. If each time, and all times, we give of our best—

—Alice Wise.

BETTER THAN CAMPHOR

Said the young wife to the shop assistant, "If this is an all-wool shirt, why is it labelled cotton?" "To deceive the moths, madam," was the reply.

THE GLORY THAT IS ALBERTA'S

(By Geo. E. Wheeler)

During the black days of the great war there was a statesman whose utterances were accepted by the allied world as the judgment of one of the wisest of men. Today it is realized that his confidence was justified. That was Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George. Perhaps he is as keen of mind now as he was then in the period of the war—and it was only a few days ago, while touring this country, that he said: "Canada today is the land of opportunity!"

Canada is primarily a wheat growing country. From a standpoint of export, it leads the nations of the world. The province of Alberta this year produced nearly one-third of all the wheat grown within the boundaries of the Dominion. In figures this is around 160,000,000 bushels—probably double that grown in any previous year. No other major political division on earth has produced so much wheat per capita.

And still most of us who live in Alberta have our dull moments. Every plowman in this country has his troubles. Every young country has its setbacks. The war was a hard blow to us all, and it is to all the world. Financially the blow was struck in a curious manner. It came in the form of a passing prosperity—light that shone for a moment in the dark and then faded away. Farmers received big prices for their crops, and in the years of depression that have brought us to the burden of principal and interest charges from greatly depleted incomes. A few lost all they had, and others have been left with their hands empty. But this year's yields have brought relief, independence of wealth to all. Those who were worst off can pay. Those who had been conservative in their gains have a rich reward.

So Albertans—pioneers of the last Great West—have passed through their hard times. They are entering upon a new era of prosperity. They are strong of heart and confident. They have prospered this year, and they are happy. They give thanks, and if they do not, they should, for they are where they should be. Tell us if you can what other country shows oil formations and oil seepage with greater possibilities for development than that evidenced in the structure of the wonder province.

Tell us if you can what area anywhere can claim undeveloped coal resources totalling one thousand billion tons. Tell us if you can why should not 5,000,000 acres of merchantable timber soon become an active factor in further development of our land.

Tell us if you can what we should not point to Alberta's deposits of clay, deposits of salt, its tar sands, its indications of iron, zinc, and its gold, the gold that is being mined today—tell us if you can why we should not say any one of these things may become an asset of national importance. Tell us if you can why young Albertans should not be proud of their $24,000,000 telephone system, its 4,700 miles of railways, its universities, its colleges and schools, its churches, its municipal hospital system, the only one in America; its 500,000 dairy cows, its modern cities, and its progressive towns.

Tell us if you can where the prospective settler can be offered more than Alberta offers when it says the average price of land today is around $30 an acre. There is but one answer. No place can offer more. We are proud of our province. We are proud of our people. We are proud of our progress. We are proud of our great wheat crop. And we are not only proud of these things, but we are thankful, too!

OUR WEEKLY SERMON

AMAZED WHEN GOD ANSWERED

By Captain Mead, Fort William
"Peter therefore was kept in prison; but prayer was made without ceasing of the church unto God for him."—Acts 12:5.

Does God answer prayer? God always did and always will answer prayer. His ear is open. His arm is stretched forth. Man is powerless and helpless, in spite of all that he can do, but when God works, "who can hinder?"

Cast Into Prison
What a wonderful deliverance is recorded to us in the twelfth chapter of Acts. King Herod had taken James and caused him to be killed with the sword, and because the king saw it pleased the Jews he proceeded further to take Peter also, whom he cast into prison to await the feast of the Passover, after which he was to be led forth to be executed. Every precaution was taken, he was chained with two chains to a soldier on each side of him. On the inside and on the outside of the door soldiers were on guard. Outside was the wall of the prison and the great iron gate. Humanly speaking, the prospect of escape was not very bright.

Did the few Christians who were at Jerusalem at this time get discouraged? Did they say, "It is not any use trying, nothing can be done. James is killed, Peter is in prison; they are so many and we are so few we shall likely all be killed, too!" No, they said, "We will pray about it; it looks dark, but God lives." We read that they met at the house of Mary, the mother of John surnamed Mark, where prayer was made without ceasing, night and day they called upon God. Mary had sung the psalm of David and they may have talked of the Lord's dealings with Abraham, Joseph and David, and if they prayed without ceasing, that is where we often fail. We pray for a time about a certain thing and if we do not get an answer right away, we cease. We must pray through, and without ceasing. "Faith, mighty faith, the promise seed, and cries, it shall be done." Peter was kept in prison about a week. It was not the first or the second or the third day that their prayers were answered. We come up to the last night. Peter is in prison. The next day he is to be executed. The saints are still praying, still calling upon God. What happens?

Who Can Hinder?
In the night while he is quietly sleeping between two soldiers, a light shines in the prison. An angel comes down from Heaven and touches Peter, saying "arise up quickly." His chains fall to the ground, the soldiers are as dead men, their eyes are closed, their ears are stopped! "When God works who can hinder?" Peter is commanded to run his girdle, but on his sandals, and as though it were a dream he follows God's messenger out of the prison, past the first and second guard. When outside they come to the great iron gate, and it is closed. How often have we been in the prison of doubt, difficulty and despair. We were hemmed in on all sides, but when we cried unto God, Hallelujah! He heard us and sent His angel to deliver us and make a way for us. Then there arose some obstacle greater than all the rest—there was the great iron gate. But note, when they came up to it—not before—it opened of its own accord to allow them to go through. What a great Deliverer is ours. I think what God would teach us by this is not to meet trouble halfway, but would say to us "My grace is sufficient for you." If God has led us so far, will He not lead us the rest of the journey?

An Angel of Deliverance
When on the streets of Jerusalem, the angel departed and Peter came to himself, realizing where he was and what God had done for him. He said, "Now I know for a surety that God hath sent His angel and delivered me from the hands of Herod and from the expectation of the Jews." While meditating upon it he made his way to the house of Mary. His hands were open, the door was unlocked, the gate was opened, the gate, he hurried to convey the good news to those who were still praying for him.

Nothing Impossible With God
I am as sure that God answers prayer as I am that the sun will rise tomorrow. We are proud of our province. We are proud of our people. We are proud of our progress. We are proud of our great wheat crop. And we are not only proud of these things, but we are thankful, too!

FLETCHER'S RULES
The Rev. John Fletcher, vicar of Madeley, was, in the opinion of John Wesley, one of the holiest men who has ever lived. By his life first, and then by his words, he proclaimed the power of Jesus Christ to save to the uttermost. Mr. Fletcher drew up for his own guidance the following rules for daily self-examination:

- (1) Did I awake spiritual, and was I watchful in keeping my mind from wandering this morning?
- (2) Have I this day got nearer to God in prayer, or have I given way to a lazy idle spirit?
- (3) Has my faith been weakened by unwatchfulness, or quickened by diligence?
- (4) Have I walked by faith, and seen God in all things?
- (5) Have I limited myself in all unkind words and thoughts? Have I been delighted at seeing others prosper?
- (6) Have I made the most of my time, as far as I had light, strength, and opportunity?
- (7) Have I kept the issues of my heart in the means of grace, so as to profit by them?

THE RESULT

The final count will probably show that over thirty-five thousand voters are opposed to the existing prohibitory liquor act and in favor of government control or license, the great majority favoring government control. Prohibition was not carried by prohibitionists in 1915, but by the moderate drinker, the thinking citizen who could take a drink and could leave it alone, by the heavy drinker who wanted to see the traffic abolished because he could not leave it alone, and even by the bar-room looter.

After eight years of trial the large majority of citizens have decided that the prohibition act did not prohibit, that a great deal of drinking of strong drink went on under the very eyes of the law in various underground manners, and the manufacture of booze of a fairly deadly type was being carried on in increasing quantities, and bootleggers were becoming thoroughly organized, and securing such a foothold that it was almost impossible to detect their underground dealings.

Under the circumstances the average citizen, to whom these facts were familiar, voted for some other system preferably government control.

No one wants to see the bar back again with all the social evils of the treating system, but many citizens do want the privilege of purchasing liquor, pure liquor, without feeling they are committing a criminal offence in doing so.

It is now up to the provincial government to give us a measure that will protect the people.

VINDICATION

Although Dr. Alexander, of the University, has had his stand against the Liquor Act endorsed by one of the most overwhelming votes in the history of the west, and although he does not need any defence from us, we feel it our duty to take up in our column the personal and unfair letter in last week's Advocate, from T. Taylor, of Blackfalds.

Dr. Alexander is one of the broadest minded men in the Province, and also a man who states his convictions openly. As such, he was welcomed by the moderate drinkers, whose views he supported. But it is most unfair for Mr. Taylor to say that Professor Alexander is responsible for all material issued by the publicity committee of the Moderation League.

If we are correctly informed, Mr. Taylor sent the letter referred to to the Edmonton Journal, who refused to publish it. It was finally published in the Advocate and the Calgary Albertan.

The statement in the letter—that many people find it hard to get bread and butter and pay the tax that keeps the university and the salary of Dr. Alexander going—makes a very high sounding argument. But here again we are informed that Mr. Taylor pays no taxes.

To turn from the serious to the amusing side of the activities of Mr. Taylor in the last vote, let us add that he was so busy telling other people how to vote that he forgot to get his own wife to the poll until too late to vote.

For some reason Dr. Alexander was shunned out for the attacks of the "A" supporters during the whole campaign. We are very glad to see his vindication so sweeping.

COME OUT IN THE OPEN

What we are on the subject of letters we will refer to the letter in last week's Advocate on the signatures of Rev. Brown and Rev. O'Brien. We wish particularly to refer to the clause "Our special thanks are due to ... the Red Deer Advocate for its strong advocacy of the cause of prohibition, even to not accepting liquor advertising."

We never ask or expect thanks for expressing in our paper our views on any matter. We should consider ourselves little to edit a paper if we did otherwise. But we do not take issue with the writers over the thanks for assistance given, which we agree was very great.

We take issue with the words "even to not accepting liquor advertising." We presume this refers to moderate league advertising, as we saw no liquor advertisements appear in any paper.

The question of moderate league advertising came up at this year's convention of the Alberta Weekly News-paper publishers. It was unanimously agreed to accept that advertising at usual rates. F. W. Galbraith is a member of the association and was at that meeting, but he raised no protest. If the Advocate refused to print advertising for the moderate league, it must have been given that information to the writers of the letter referred to, and the reason for doing so must have been self-interest or a desire to knock The News. Was the advertising, if refused, because of deep concern of the writers or because of self-interest? "The Mountaineer," published in the Advocate office, carried all the moderate advertising.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS

OF DEMOCRACY

We in Canada have got so accustomed to our democratic government that we tend to take it for granted that in any civilized country there can be no other system. We thought that the late German government of the Kaiser and the Russian autocracy of the Czar were the last survivors of feudal autocracy with its military uniforms and rigid artificial caste distinctions. That any man should be perpetually addressed as "All Highest" strikes us as indicating at least a lamentable lack of the sense of humour on the part of all concerned. When the Czar and the Kaiser were deposed, we all thought that that was the last of these archaic anachronisms in white men's countries, and that democracy at last had come into unchallenged supremacy.

It was a somewhat premature assumption. Things have taken an unexpected turn since the war ended. Russia is still in the grip of a tyranny as arbitrary and cruel as that of the Czar at any time. She has not even the form of a parliament as she had under the last Czar. Germany is in chaos and under a military dictatorship. Italy is ruled by one man alone, who openly despises parliamentary methods, and says in almost so many words that he alone must decide what is best for the people. Greece and Spain are both ruled by small bodies of soldiers. In Asia China is wholly subject to irresponsible military governors or brigands. The unchallenged supremacy of democracy is a somewhat shaky theory to maintain in the face of these uncomfortable facts.

"Ah," but we say, "what have we to do with these old peoples? Leave them to wallow in the mire of their wars, and hatreds. The British Empire and the United States, the whole English-speaking people in fact, remain true to the democratic principle, and while they stand firm, the rest can go their own foolish way unheeded."

Well, that is true so far, and we have every reason to be thankful that it is true, but can we be quite sure that all is well with the principle of democracy among the English-speaking people? Was there not recently a somewhat ominous happening in Oklahoma, where a governor declared that the legislature was under the power of a secret society and that because of that fact he on his own responsibility would prevent that legislature from meeting and would safeguard the welfare of the state by force if need be? Was this not very much a repetition under different circumstances of Mussolini's performance in Italy, and of the situation in Spain? It is true that in Oklahoma what was represented by some of those concerned as a crisis of democracy was actually a crisis of real danger, and fizzled out tamely enough, but it could get even within the sphere of possibility is a warning which we shall do well not to neglect. No man can tell what is likely to come out of the present European convulsions, nor how they may affect Canada and the whole world.

Hard times and the priventions that come with them are always liable to put a severe strain on existing institutions. There are always men ready to exploit trouble in their own interest. Democracy, which is the rule of the people, does not endure because of any theoretical excellence. It exists just as long and no longer than the people are fit and able to hold in their hands the reins of government. If they once relax their grip, there will always be those ready to snatch the reins, whether they do so under the title of Emperor, King, First Consul, Dictator, Commissioner, Guardian of the People, or Grand Wizard of the Ku Klux Klan. The storm that is shaking the Old World may be far away from us now. It may be only a cloud on the horizon no bigger than a man's hand, but we shall be well advised to watch it carefully, lest ere we know it, the whole heaven above us is black with clouds.

IF IT HAPPENED TO US

Those who read the accounts of what is happening in Germany now, smile, shrug their shoulders indifferently, or shake their heads and say "how terrible" according to their varying temperaments. We doubt if many of them ever try to realize what it would mean in everyday practice if any such thing happened to us. Anybody who had suggested such a thing before the war, who had written a novel or a play about it, would have been laughed at as an absurd and fantastic dreamer, a financial Jules Verne on an exaggerated scale. Now that it has really happened, we read about it, but it is far away and unusual to our minds. Let us try to picture it all in terms of our own immediate surroundings.

Let us suppose that the crash has come. We are beaten in war. The credit of our governments, domestic and provincial, is gone. Revolution is at hand. Rocky Mountain House has declared itself an independent monarchy. In Lacombe a local Empire has been proclaimed. The Red Conservatives of Lacombe are marching to suppress the Yellow Communists of Penhold. In Red Deer itself confusion reigns. A coup d'etat is expected at any moment. The G.W.V.A. caucuses in crowded at unauthorized hours by an anxious throng. Rumour has spread abroad that the local detachment of the Provincial Police has declared itself in favour of a Bolshevik Federation, but has been surrounded and disarmed after a desperate and bloody struggle by the day force of the City Police.

Meantime the dollar has slumped in value and prices are rising fast. Hiram P. Wolf has just sold a steer for $7,000,000.00, and has instantly paid off the $1000.00 mortgage on his farm. He would have been in pocket over the transaction but discovered that those astute labourers in the vineyard, the local lawyers, had justifiably raised their fees for drawing a discharge of a mortgage from $2.00 to $10,000,000.00. He therefore went to a real estate agent to get it done cheaply, but even there he had to pay $6,000,000.00 and his lunch at the Commercial Cafe cost him $1,000,000.00 for hamburger steak smothered in onions with apple pie and coffee.

The sub-editor of the "News" has just sold a copy of the paper for $100,000.00 and has paid off his little $57.00 note at the bank with comely results to the bank agent in spite of the latter having laid down a red carpet and erected an awning to facilitate the sub-editor's entry to the bank.

Unemployment is increasing fast. How the unfortunate thus thrown on the streets are to live no one knows. Some of them are said to have bought a sausage-making machine, and to be proving about the backyards at night time saying "pretty pussy" in ingratiating tones, but it is thought that owners for the most part anticipated them in this respect.

In spite of these dreadful conditions the night life of the city continues as hectic as ever. Not more than 500 seats were vacant at the new picture theatre last night, and the Smart Set continue their bridge and tea parties with callous indifference. At Mrs. Uddie's house two days ago the first bridge prize was actually a pound of chocolate, a piece of disgraceful and extravagant bravado which even the fastest of the set were inclined to brown on. The booty prize was one of the old $50,000,000 bank notes, which, of course, are now of no value whatever.

There is a proposal on foot to make bushels of wheat legal currency instead of the dollar, but this is opposed by the Bootleggers' Protection League, who wish to make the good bottle of spirits the standard. A ridiculous suggestion to make two percent beer the equivalent of silver, and good beer that of gold has rightly received no support.

The Japanese governor of Calgary has issued an order that all the white people of that city are to be indoors by 7 p.m. An attempt by one of the stores to hold a white sale resulted in a desperate riot, the store being looted and a crowd of ruffians went on. The white police were entirely unable to restore order and Japanese troops had to intervene with machine guns and gas bombs. The hospitals were full of the wounded. The lawless, and the undertakers have doubled their prices for funerals and insist on being paid in eggs and poultry.

It sounds ridiculous, but there is an effect of a cold parallel in Germany for every incident suggested.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Little Willie has returned to Germany. We do not know what part of Germany he is looking for, but he is prepared to lay odds that it is a long way from the French troops.

The "Push" instigated and supported by Ludendorff, otherwise known in Europe as the man who lost the war, was assuming office the stocks of liquor have been depleted by over $1,000,000 and immediate action must be taken to be given to the important question of adequate stocks.

A session of the legislature will of course be necessary. A special session will not be called, but the date of the regular session will be advanced and an adjournment made if necessary to deal with regular session business.

The fire tragedy in Edmonton should be a severe lesson. Fortunately there is not much chance of a similar happening in Red Deer, but all precautions should be taken. It is poor comfort to the sufferers to take the precautions after the accident, as has been the case in the capital city.

President Wilson characterizes the attitude of the United States in regard to world problems arising out of the world war as ignoble, cowardly and dishonourable. Of course, having "won the war," they must rest up (meanwhile watching for which the choir's swings) before becoming up Europe.

WEEKLY NEWS BULLETIN

Issued by Publicity Commissioner, Government Buildings, Edmonton.

Alberta Well Represented

Alberta will be exceptionally well represented at the International Live Stock Show in Chicago next month. Of individual exhibits of seed grain from farmers over the province entered for competition against the world, there will be between 115 and 125 it is expected, there being over 100 entries now. This is in comparison with 60 exhibits last year. These exhibits are now being collected at the University and at Olds and Claresholm and will be forwarded from there.

In addition to this, for the hay and grain show a special exhibit representing the province is being prepared by the University and Department of Agriculture co-operating. This exhibit will be educational in nature and will represent the production of registered seed in Alberta. It will be a specially prepared design and will be embellished by sheep grains and grasses collected from all over the province. There will also be display of two five-bushel grain tanks filled with pure seed wheat and oats. The exhibit will be in charge of W. J. Stephens, Field Crop Commissioner of the government, who will also supervise the placing of the individual farmers' exhibits.

For the livestock show, a string of eight animals, collected and prepared by the University will be in attendance. These are in addition to eight others that are on their way to Toronto and Guelph shows. This string of 16 animals includes six purebred Shorthorns, four purebred Aberdeens, one purebred Hereford and one cross bred. These animals have been contributed by Wm. and James Sharpe, of Lacombe; Yale, Carstairs; S. D. Blair, of Red Deer; C. H. Richardson, of Bowden; A. B. Macleod, of Olds; Charles H. Sedgewick, Dominion Experimental Farm at Lacombe, and the Alberta University. The string will be under the supervision of Joe Johnson and Prof. Sackville of the University.

Recognition for Alberta Professor Dr. J. B. Collip, of the Medical Faculty of Alberta University, one of the best of his kind in Canada, is to share to the extent of $10,000 in the Nobel Peace Prize conferred recently on Dr. Macleod and Banting of Toronto University, for the contribution to modern science in the discovery of the hormone of the pancreas, insulin. Dr. Collip was one of the four doctors, with Drs. Banting, Macleod and Banting, who were responsible for the discovery.

Oppose Rate Increase

The Alberta government will take action to oppose the application of the express companies for an increase in rates, and has asked the co-operation of other western provinces in doing so. The application will come up at a sitting of the railway commission in the province shortly.

Changes in Portfolios of Cabinet

Changes were effected last week in the portfolios of the members of the Alberta government, as follows: Premier Greenfield relinquishes the portfolios of treasurer and secretary, and assumes the administration of the municipalities branch. Hon. R. G. Reid becomes provincial treasurer. Hon. Geo. Howland assumes the portfolio of health as well as agriculture and Attorney-General Brownlee assumes the provincial secretaryship. No other changes have been made.

The Referendum

The people of Alberta, by a substantial majority, in the referendum on the liquor question on November 5th, defeated the present prohibition law, and decided in favor of a law of government control and public dispensation of beer, according to Clause "D" on the ballot, which reads as follows: "Government sale of all liquors, meaning thereby the sale of all liquors by or through government, vendors, to be consumed on licensed premises and in private residences. Wine and spirits to be purchased in limited quantities under permit issued by the government under government control and regulation."

Following the vote, Premier Greenfield announced that the regular session of the legislature would be called before the end of the month, and issued the following statement: "The electors of the province have apparently decided to have a referendum in favor of another system of liquor administration. It is now left to the Legislature to frame the suitable legislation and for the Government to organize the necessary machinery to carry into effect the will of the people as soon as that can possibly be done."

Since its inception of office this Government considered it its plain duty to give the people an honest and adequate statement of the present law, and the Government faces the new test with confidence that it has not failed in any of its duties. It is the present Act. It will be the endeavor of the Government to interpret and carry into effect the wishes of the people in the same spirit of fairness and sincerity as has been shown towards the old Act.

"The government has, of course, had under consideration its course of action in the event of any of the four causes carrying. Now that the decision has been reached every attention will be given to working out the various problems of administration which will be essential, whatever form of legislation the legislature may finally settle. Apart entirely from the question of legislation there are important problems of organization which will take a little time, for example since assuming office the stocks of liquor have been depleted by over $1,000,000 and immediate action must be taken to be given to the important question of adequate stocks.

A session of the legislature will of course be necessary. A special session will not be called, but the date of the regular session will be advanced and an adjournment made if necessary to deal with regular session business."

RIDGEWOOD

An Anglican Harvest Festival service was held in the hall on Sunday, November 4th, at 3:30 p.m. The rector of St. Luke's, assisted by the choir, led the service. Not any too much praise can be given them for such a good turnout. The rector remarked that they (the choir) has never refused to go anywhere where their services could be useful.

The congregation extend to them their best thanks for their kindly help also to Messrs. Lavender, Haste and others for their kindness in bringing them out in cars.

The service itself was a real treat. The anthem, "Ye shall dwell in the land," (Slimper) was rendered in very fine style, reflecting much credit. Everyone in the hall certainly enjoyed the service.

The collection was for the Japanese fund and amounted to $13.80. The rector took his text from St. Luke 17. After thanking the congregation for such a full attendance, he gave a very interesting and helpful address showing how much we could all be thankful for such a bountiful harvest.

It certainly shows that with the amount of enthusiasm shown that similar services would be a great asset to the community.

500 votes in the Piano Contest for one year's subscription to The News.

THE SALE OF POPPIES

There was very keen competition between the school classes of Miss Etta Shith and Mrs. A. Holt to win the first prize for selling Armistice Day poppies. When the money was all counted it was found that Miss Smith's class was first, having 15 cents more money to show. Mrs. Holt's class took second place and all the other grades did very well. Altogether, the children raised a little over $200.00, which is a splendid showing for Red Deer.

The poppies were made by disabled Canadian soldiers, for whose benefit they were sold.

P. E. Kent, who had charge of the sale of the poppies here, is most grateful for the splendid interest and support shown by the public, and he as well as all Veterans, feel indebted to Mr. Locke and the teachers and school children for their great help.
